How To Turn a Career Fair to a Job Offer?

A career fair is a “one-stop shop” for job seekers and potential employers. It's a one-day event that allows freshmen, sophomore, junior and senior students, and alumni to network with potential employers from a wide range of industries under one roof.

LAU career fair takes place in a professional but relaxed campus environment. Attending such an event can be very efficient for you as you will be able to get acquainted with a large number of companies in one day, a task that might take you months to accomplish on your own.

Good luck with your job search! We hope you will make the most out of this event!

Before the Career Fair

- Prepare your one-page résumé. If you need assistance, you can drop by the Career Guidance Officer anytime between 8:00 and 4:30 pm everyday. Prepare 20 to 30 professional copies of your résumé

- Get a list of the participating companies and research the ones that interest you the most. The list is available on the Career Guidance Website
- Some company representatives may conduct informal interviews. Prepare a quick introduction about yourself (your name, major, special skills, professional experience). Don't memorize the introduction but relate it in a natural way
- Prepare some questions to ask the company representatives

During the Career Fair

- Arrive early and visit your top-priority companies first
- Business attire is the best way to dress to make a strong first impression. Avoid excessive jewelry and perfume
- Greet employers and introduce yourself with a firm handshake and good eye contact
- Hand in the representative a résumé and get prepared to start answering questions
- Follow up by showing interest in the company and asking pertinent questions. Make sure you ask questions to representative: ask about the company, the majors that interests them the most, if they have current job openings, and if they offer a training for new recruits
- Remember that honesty is the best policy
- Don't bring food and drinks to the recruiting tables
- Before leaving, ask for a business card so you can send a follow up thank-you letter. It's also a very good way to develop your contacts
- The career fair is always a good way to network. Networking is an efficient way to build your professional contacts. Networking with people from particular industries can be very beneficial for you to explore your career options.

After the Career Fair

- Keep an accurate record of the contacts you made during the career fair
- You will make a strong impression if you follow up with the employer by sending a thank-you letter within two to five days after the career fair
- Get prepared for a formal interview as most employers attend the career fair to select potential employees

Make sure the following items are found in your resume:

- Name and family name
- Address (Building, Street, City, Country)
- Phone number
- Email: make sure it is in a professional format such as name.familyname@lau.edu
- University, degree (bachelor of science or arts), major, minor, date of graduation
- Mention the semesters where you were listed on honor or distinction lists or your GPA if it is higher than 3.00
- For each work experience, include your position, company name, month and date you were hired and the month and date you left the job
- Mention any internship/training you completed
- Include any relevant experience, volunteer work, social affiliations, etc...
- Include your computer skills
- Include your date of birth, nationality and interests
- Make sure you spell check the whole document
- The best font size is between 10 and 12 (Times News Roman or Arial)

Interviews

Before the Interview

- Gather as much information as possible such as: exact address, type of business, size, some key financial figures, key people, and the interviewer's full name, major competitors in the local and international market, etc...
- Prepare a pen, a notepad and extra copies of your resume to take with you to the interview

At the Interview

- Arrive on time. Arriving late, for whatever reason, always gives a negative impression about you
- Introduce yourself with a smile and a firm handshake
- Don't criticize past employers or colleagues
- What to wear: for men, a dark suit is always the best choice in a corporate setting with a white or soft blue shirt. A tie is also recommended. For women, dark suits (pants or skirts) are also a good choice. They can be worn with short or long sleeved blouses

- Be prepared to answer questions such as: Tell me about yourself; what are your strengths; what are your weaknesses; what do you know about our company; why do you want to work for our company; why are you interested in this position; how would your colleagues describe you; how would your boss describe you; how would you describe yourself; how would you describe your last job performance; what are your major accomplishments in your career; can you meet deadlines when you work under pressure; what are the activities that contribute to your personal development
- Be enthusiastic
- Show maturity and courtesy
- Be prepared to ask questions such as: what are the short-term and long-term objectives you would like the recruited person to accomplish in this job; what kind of training would I receive; what are the most important skills required to perform this job; can you describe a typical on-the-job day; are there any problems to be faced in this position; are there advancement opportunities in this position; which employee appraisal system do you use to evaluate the employees in this position

Please note that these questions are used as guidelines and some of these questions may not be suitable for your interviewing situation.

Closing the Interview

- Show your interest and enthusiasm to be part of the company's team of employees
- Thank the interviewer for his/her time and consideration
- You can ask a time frame within which you can expect to hear from the company
